1	Charlie Anderson  Carol Markham		The quiet and reserved adopted daughter of the well-known Markham family. Tendency to be optimistic and dreamy, she has a close bond with Norman Jones and newcomer Lee Wilkinson.	16	Jak Horner  Gerald Tyler		Husband of Phoebe Tyler and carer for foster-father figure Norman Jones. He has taken on Norman's role as head gardener. Following the formers increasing senility and old age. Generally known for being a gentle soul he is also a member of Dad's army.
2	Katie Catfish  Cathy Denton		Photographer for the Forest Journal, (the local rag) there to get shots of the WI Fayre and newly rebuilt "Mountabttten-Smythe" evacuees home. Based in Brokenhurst, little else is known about her.	17	Jordan Howard  Lee Wilkinson		As a newcomer to the area, not a lot is known about Lee. Originally hailing from London, he has struck up a friendship with local girl Carol Markham with whom he has developed a close bond. Rumours suggest he is a very private person.
3	David Austin  Prof. Ian Drover		A scholar and a gent. He gives the impression of a "ragged trousered philanthropist" educating the young land girls and apprentice farmers. Witty and erudite he remains cheerful, even after the bombing of his London school brought him to seek work in Hampshire.	18	Keith Jackson  Norman Jones		Norman was the head gardener at Burley at the time of the 1924 fire, but has chosen never to speak of it. Perhaps the memories of losing so many friends and acquaintances are too much for him to bear. He's a sweet old man but his increasing senility means he is only lucid 50% of the time.
4	Marke Barron  Rev. Christopher Squires		Well respected Church of England Vicar, in his mid-forties who enjoys being called Father Chris. He's friendly and approachable, if irritatingly moralistic but most respect him for his stint on the front line, ended by a severe bout of gout.	19	Oliver Murray  Titus Hall		An extremely charming and mature seventeen year old apprentice farmer (thus in a reserved position) who arrived in Burley with his beloved sister Ophelia. Prone to bouts of ill health none-the less he displays a positive outlook and really shines in social situations. It is often said he'll be a real "heartbreaker" when he grows up.

Death in Service November 2009

	Cath Bunce Phoebe Tyler		stone of the WI working "Home and Country". energetic and caring she is married to Gerald Tyler, and you have to wonder if the role of live in carer is taking a toll on their marriage. She is currently kindly looking after her shell shocked cousin Chris in an attempt to nurse him back to health.	20	John Neal Captain Chris Baldry		Captain Chris Baldry has lost fifteen years of his life to shell-shock (including ten years of his marriage to a woman called Kitty). He is really suffering which is why his cousin Phoebe- with whom he has an extremely close and warm relationship- has invited him to come and stay to take the fresh country air and hopefully relieve some of the pressure on his wife.
6	Jono Bunce Little Dickie Eldon		Surly and impatient, but extremely honest (i.e. tactless) Little Dickie belongs to the second generation of Eldons to live in the New Forest after his dear papa, whilst working for the Barrington-Harts was killed in the 1924 fire. He is extremely astute and bright, so much so that it often makes people uncomfortable.	21	Rob Pearce Charlie Warren		Considered a god of the silent screen in 1924, he was the only surviving bright-young-thing from the 1924 fire which killed his co-star the famous Freddy Grant. He has never made an official statement to the press, but has been in all sorts of nefarious trouble since then- including being caught cheating in a Baccarat game with an Austrian MP.
7	Lindsey Catlin Margaret Grey		A nurse from the Lyndhurst chapter of the WI, drafted in to help with the WI Fayre. As an "outsider" not much is commonly known about her.	22	Jason Pushman Mark Lincoln		Grumpy middle aged Chef employed by Mountbatten-Smythe as a favour to his family when it transpired his poor eye-sight and flat feet meant he was not accepted into the armed forces. Maybe this is the reason for his bitterness?
8	Pete Cartwright Justin Hayward		Groundskeeper for what used to be the Barrington-Hart estate. Eldest son of the Hayward family who have been tenant farmers and foresters in the new forest for generations. Indeed it is often remarked locally that the Hayward family roots delve deeper into the forest than those of the trees. Close friends with the Markham family (Carol's parents).	23	Jason Richards Michael Mountbatten-Smythe		Philanthropic Baronet who opened the "Mountbatten-Smythe Evacuees Shelter" for those working in reserved positions away from home. He is extremely rich, and extremely generous. Although sometimes distant (his wife is completely insane and has had to remain in London where he is originally from to get the care she needs) he has close friends in the community in Little Dickie Eldon and Oswald Millington.

	David Bevan		...en, utility factory worker s Army" (Home Guard his man's patriotism knows no bounds. Considered a bit of a jobs worth by the locals, he and his close friend and work colleague Peter Allsopp are so similar they are practically interchangeable.	24	Jennie Roysten Davies  Ophelia Hall		Responsible and caring Lumber Jill on one hand, opinionated and bolshie on the other, Ophelia is a complex personality. It is commonly known that she has taken parental responsibility for her sickly brother for many years and she is admired for her devotion to him.
10	Al Dent  Peter Allsopp		ARP warden, utility factory worker and "Dad's Army" (Home Guard officer). He is David's factory foreman, so may be a little more dominant in the relationship between the two. To see them together often makes one thing of a Vaudeville double act (though which is the ventriloquist and which is the dummy it is hard to say).	25	Mia Thompson-  Matron Mary Brown		Matron Mary Brown was employed by Mountbatten Smythe to educate the Evacuees in social mores and etiquette. She is a stickler for cleanliness and manners and a great believer in "spare the rod spoil the land girl". It's an old fashioned attitude, but she's only doing what she thinks is best which is why so many simply accept the rap across the knuckles with humility, she's clearly an old dear really.
11	Saul Durnin  Itsu Lansa		A mysterious Red Indian often seen in the company of Charlie Warren. May well be recognised from newspaper photographs of the silent movie actor, but what their relationship may be, no-one is quite sure.	26	Arianne Timmis-  Rachel Massingham		Vibrant, fun and sympathetic, Rachel is the anti-thesis of her overbearing busybody mother. She is closely linked to the work of the WI because she believes they are doing charitable and valuable work. She can however, be somewhat irresponsible and has been known to disappear for many hours at a time out in the woods claiming she has "lost track of time" and leaving her mother worried sick.
12	Stacy Evans  Wilfred Cuthbertson		A dashing and mysterious stranger.	27	Pricilla Massingham-  Zoe Viner		An overbearing mother and war widow who rules the WI with an iron fist. She is obsessed with manners, reputation and appearances and will brook no complaint about what she feels is her right to tell other people how to live their lives according to her own moral code.

Death in Service November 2009

	Fatchen Edward Rook		creepy guest of Mountbatten-Smythe, invited to the home to hold a séance (apparently he's quite a famous medium) in order to reach the ghosts of those burned in the 1924 fire and try to find out what really happened there.	28	Gail Watkins-  Charity and Anna Holmes		Anna- extremely flirtatious and as such looked down upon surreptitiously by more intolerant attendees. Those more sympathetic realise she is trapped in a vicious cycle of inappropriate behaviour simply an attempt to feel loved and valued. This will be Gail in land girl's outfit with a red wig. Charity is much more reputable and there is a known tension between her and her cousin. However, she is known for being intolerant and is often difficult and obtuse.
14	Robin Galton Reginald Blatt Jr.		Mysterious stranger number two, having recently inherited a derelict smallholding, which he intends to revamp and lend to the war effort.	29	Jaz Williamson  Oswald Millington		Close friend of Mountbatten Smythe and Home Guard liaison. Son of an Oxford Don and published amateur ornithologist he is a confirmed bachelor (and id truth be told bit of a geek). None the less his job with the home guard allows him to travel freely and have access to a car.
15	Dave Garwood Jack Lapham (Jack the Lad)		Attitude is expressed clearly by his nickname Jack the Lad. A charming rogue he was honourably dismissed from the army after incurring a gunshot wound. Born and bred in Burley he owns the local barbers shop, and with his reputation should be able t keep the older boys in line.	30	Ulysses Carol		In his late 50s and his family have run the local undertakers for generations. He trained as a medic through the First World War. He also walks with a bit of a limp from a bullet wound that has meant he is no longer fit for service and as such has avoided conscription. He is very much part of the community, certainly respected, and acts as a benefactor for the local primary school and scout troop.
And an assorted crew of reprobates playing various newcomers and one-offs				31	Ester Zemlichkova  Eva Cohen		Eva is a 17-year-old innocent who lies about her age to join the WLA, discovering a world of adventure as a result. Sometimes irritating due to her constant energy, and cheerfulness she fluctuates between being a child and a woman and struggles to navigate a course between the two states.
